RM58

SERIES

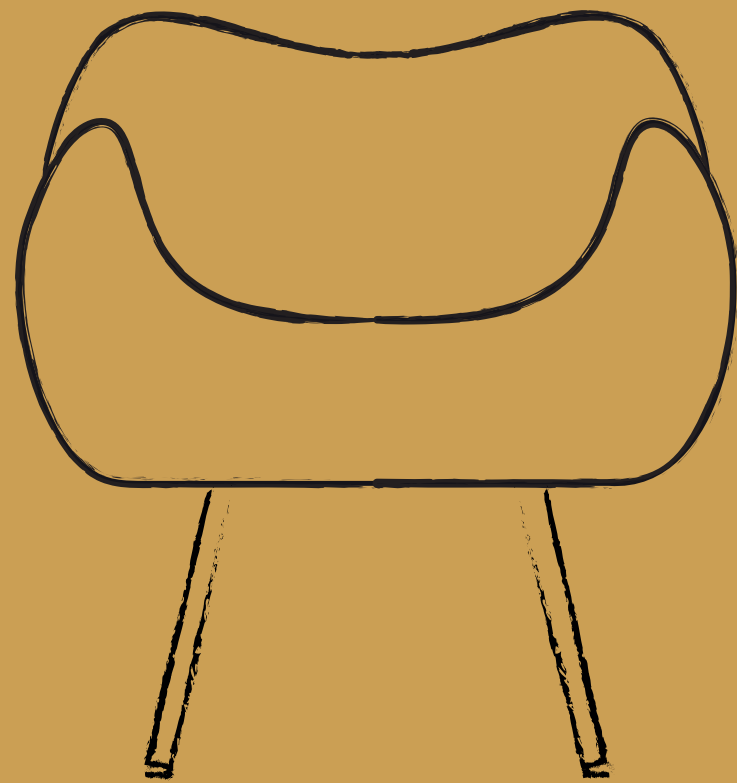

100% designed & manufactured in Poland

world-class innovativeness

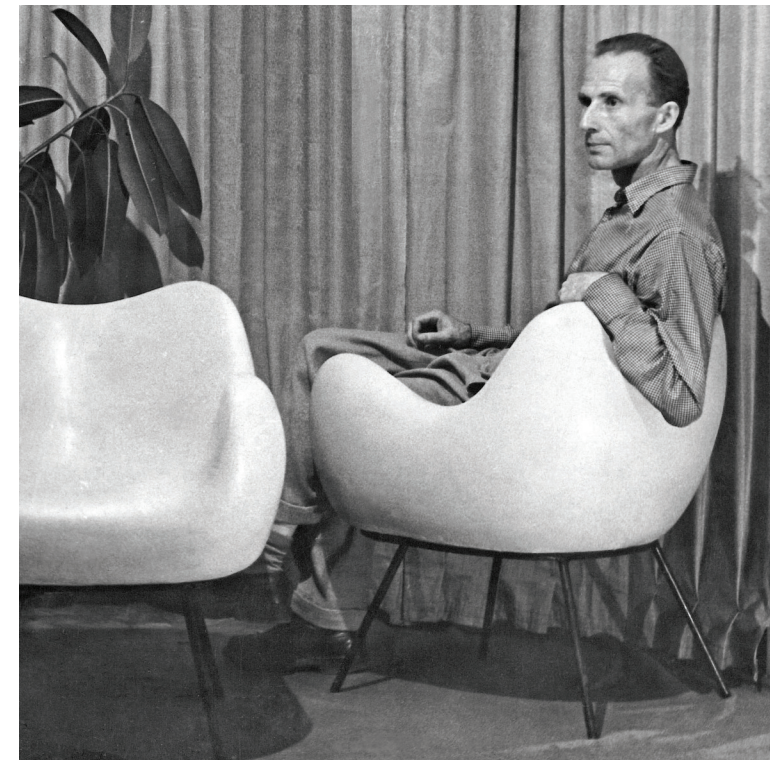

The RM58 Armchair, designed and handmade by Roman Modzelewski in 1958, was among the first European pieces made from polyester-glass laminate, following the innovation introduced by Ray and Charles Eames in the USA. Its fully closed, organic form was unprecedented at the time, both in Poland and internationally. Today, advanced materials and industrial production techniques have overcome the limits of handcrafted manufacturing, allowing the RM58 to be made quickly with consistently high quality. This also enabled the creation of a matte version, offering fresh aesthetic appeal in a variety of modern colors.

ROMAN MODZELEWSKI

Pioneer of Form

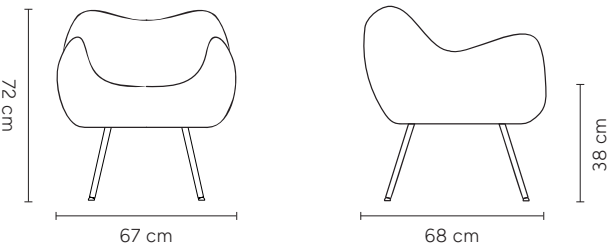

Furniture designer, painter, and co-founder of the Academy of Fine Arts in Łódź, pioneered the use of new materials in furniture and yacht design. His innovative RM58 armchair, made from polyester-glass laminate, was Poland's first of its kind and earned praise from Le Corbusier, though it never entered mass production. Modzelewski's work gained international recognition, with the original white RM58 included in the Victoria and Albert Museum's collection in London.

RM58 CLASSIC

STORY BEHIND

The RM58 Classic is the most faithful implementation version of the groundbreaking armchair designed by Roman Modzelewski. It is made using modern composites that are the contemporary equivalents of polyester and glass laminates originally used by Modzelewski in 1958. In analogy to the historical version, RM58 Classic is made using modern technologies applied in yacht construction. In order to provide a high-quality finish and lasting durability, the surface of the seat is covered with a color gelcoat. RM58 is a fine example of Space Age design, which crosses boundaries between new technological approaches with modern and organic aesthetics.

RM58 MATTE

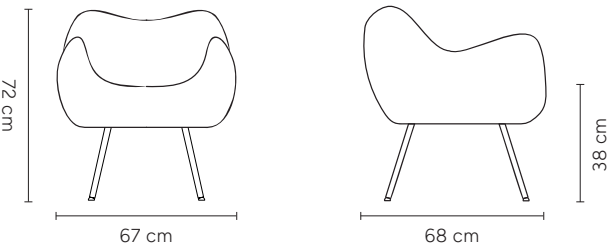

STORY BEHIND

The RM58 Matte is a contemporary interpretation of the historic armchair designed by Roman Modzelewski in 1958. Using advanced rotational moulding technology, this updated edition preserves the iconic shape, now tailored for scalable and sustainable production. This innovative manufacturing process allows for the use of durable, modern materials while maintaining the integrity of Modzelewski’s visionary design. The result is a matte-finish armchair that not only embodies the bold, futuristic spirit of the original but also meets the functional needs of contemporary interiors. Its carefully engineered form is a precise, full-scale replica of the original, offering a perfect balance between historical authenticity and modern utility.

RM58 SOFT

STORY BEHIND

The upholstered version of the RM58 is a brand new reinterpretation of the iconic Polish design classic designed by Professor Roman Modzelewski. While staying true to the sculptural silhouette that made the original a mid-century legend, this new edition has been thoughtfully reimagined for contemporary living. The form has been subtly enlarged, and the seat is crafted from high-quality upholstered foam, delivering enhanced comfort and functionality without compromising its original character. Available in a wide selection of fabrics and colors, the RM58 invites customization while remaining a true classic of timeless design.
